2013 Kentucky Roads Scholars and Road Masters Honored At Graduation Ceremonies Across The State

The Technology Transfer Program of the Kentucky Transportation Center is proud to announce that 124 Roads Scholars and 120 Road Masters have completed the 2013 Kentucky Roads Scholars/Road Masters Training Program. To honor their outstanding efforts and commitment to quality roads in Kentucky, graduates were honored November 26th at Morehead Conference Center in Morehead, Kentucky; December 11th at Rough River Dam State Resort Park in Falls of Rough, Kentucky; and December 12th at Lake Cumberland State Resort Park in Jamestown, Kentucky.

The following recipient, who consented to this announcement, joins the 2,326 Roads Scholars and 1,660 Road Masters who have already completed the program. The Roads Scholar/Road Master Training Program consists of nine and seven full-day courses, respectively. The combined programs total 96 training hours and serves individuals from local and state transportation agencies as well as private businesses. The Roads Scholar and Road Master Training Programs, as well as a broad selection of other training courses related to transportation, are offered throughout the year by the Technology Transfer Program of the Kentucky

Transportation Center, located at the University of Kentucky, College of Engineering. More information on the Technology Transfer Program or the Roads Scholar and Road Master Training series can be found at www.kyt2.com or by contacting Dina Johnson, Training Program Manager, at dina.johnson@uky.edu or 800-432-0719.

Two Injured in Wreck

On Friday evening around 7:00 p.m. a wreck occurred in front of BP in Booneville, KY that sent two to the hospital. According to Deputy Ivan Fletcher, Thomas Flannery of Beattyville, KY was going North on Highway 11 in his 2003 Mitsubishi Outlander when Alfreda Bowling of Booneville, KY was traveling South on 11 in her 2000 Saturn turned into BP and into the path of Flannery when they collided. Both were taken by ambulance to the hospital. Flannery was complaining of pain in his left arm and Bowling was complaining of pain in her head. Their current condition is not known at this time. Both were wearing their seatbelts.

What I Heard From Kentuckians During Field Hearing In Coal Country

By Senator Mitch McConnell
December 19, 2013

I was disappointed but not surprised that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) once again showed it cares little for the opinions of eastern Kentuckians. Recently, the EPA proposed new job-killing regulations and scheduled "listening sessions" to receive public input. But they scheduled them only in cities far away from coal country—cities including New York, Boston, Seattle, and San Francisco. Clearly, the EPA did not want real input.

So I held my own listening session in Pikeville to put a human face on the suffering that is being felt there

OCES - Getting ready for their Break!

For their last day before Break, the students at Owsley Elementary had their Christmas parties all the way from Early Headstart to 6th grade.

Christmas Wonderland at OCES

Last week, the Mission of Hope out of Knoxville, TN arrived in their tractor trailer with the help of Northeast Christian Church in Lexington, KY to set up the OCES Gym into a Christmas wonderland for the students in K-6 plus Headstart and Early Headstart. As they do every year, each student is allowed to pick two toys of their choice out of the mounds of toys. This year, they served 401 elementary students and 124 Early and Headstart students.

due in large part to this president's War on Coal. We heard from those in the coal industry, miners and their families, and local elected officials.

One man who spoke was Howard Abshire, a former production foreman and a fourth-generation coal miner. He is one of many miners laid off for lack of work. During the listening session, Howard held up a piece of coal to show us what's at stake. "This is coal," he stated. "This keeps the lights on. We're hurting. We need help. We don't want to be bailed out. We want to work."

I heard from Jimmy Rose, a veteran and former coal miner. Jimmy was perhaps the most famous attendee at the listening session because he brought attention to the War on Coal to a national television audience on "America's Got Talent." His song "Coal Keeps the Lights On" spoke directly to the hardship in his community largely caused by the War on Coal.

Addressing the Obama administration, Jimmy said: "Look at what you're doing, and who you're affecting...Coal mining is a way of life, just like I say in the song. Don't kill our way of life. I hope one day I can always say coal kept the lights on."

I also heard from Anita Miller, a manager of safety for Apollo Fuels in Middlesboro. She's worked in the industry for more than 15 years. She told me: "My son walked earlier than my daughter...every time she would try to stand up, he would either knock her down, or put his hand on her head so she couldn't stand. This is what is happening to the coal industry."

"My wish is that the people who are trying so hard to destroy the coal industry would just...think about the hot showers they take, the lights they turn on, and that first hot cup of coffee in the morning, and remember that it came from electricity powered by coal," she added.

I couldn't agree more.

The impression one gets from the EPA is that the ideologues in the Obama administration view families from coal country as a mere speed bump on their way to some coal-free fantasyland. Apparently, the Obama administration's professed concern about struggling families does not apply to "fly-over territory," and certainly not to those in Appalachia. That is precisely why I held the listening session in Pikeville—to ensure that we in the Commonwealth have a voice in decisions that profoundly affect our lives.

And that is why I delivered the concerns of my constituents directly to the EPA this week. The main message conveyed to the EPA was that the people of Kentucky will not be silenced. We demand to be heard. We also say loud and clear: the War of Coal is not over, not by a long shot. This president will be gone in three years, and the coal will still be in the ground. The people of the region are resilient, and we will keep fighting.

ADAM H. EDELEN
AUDITOR OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

To the People of Kentucky
Honorable Steven L. Beshear, Governor
Lori H. Flanery, Secretary
Finance and Administration Cabinet
Honorable Ronnie DeBord, Owsley County Judge/Executive
Honorable Kelly Shouse, Owsley County Sheriff
Members of the Owsley County Fiscal Court

Report on the Financial Statement
We have audited the Owsley County Sheriff's Settlement – 2012 Taxes for the period April 17, 2012 through April 15, 2013 – regulatory basis, and the related notes to the financial statement.
Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statement
Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in accordance with accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting as described in Note 1. Management is also responsible for the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement that is free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.
Auditor's Responsibility
Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the financial statement based on our audit. We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, the standards applicable to financial audits contained in Government Auditing Standards issued by the Comptroller General of the United States, and the Audit Guide for Sheriff's Tax Settlements issued by the Auditor of Public Accounts, Commonwealth of Kentucky. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statement is free from material misstatement. An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statement. The procedures selected depend on the auditor's judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statement, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statement in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statement. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinions.

Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
As described in Note 1 of the financial statement, the financial statement is prepared by the County Sheriff on the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the laws of Kentucky to demonstrate compliance with the Commonwealth of Kentucky's regulatory basis of accounting, which is a basis of accounting other than accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.
The effects on the financial statement of the variances between the regulatory basis of accounting described in Note 1 and accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, although not reasonably determinable, are presumed to be material.

Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles
In our opinion, because of the significance of the matter discussed in the Basis for Adverse Opinion on U.S. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles paragraph, the financial statement referred to above does not present fairly, in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, the financial position of each fund of the County Sheriff, as of April 15, 2013, or changes in financial position or cash flows thereof for the year then ended.

Opinion on Regulatory Basis of Accounting
In our opinion, the financial statement referred to above presents fairly, in all material respects, the taxes charged, credited, and paid for the period April 17, 2012 through April 15, 2013 of the Owsley County Sheriff, in accordance with the basis of accounting practices prescribed or permitted by the Commonwealth of Kentucky as described in Note 1.

Other Reporting Required by Government Auditing Standards
In accordance with Government Auditing Standards, we have also issued our report dated October 1, 2013 on our consideration of the Owsley County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting and on our tests of its compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grant agreements, and other matters. The purpose of that report is solely to describe the scope of our testing of internal control over financial reporting and compliance and the results of that testing, and not to provide an opinion on the effectiveness of the Owsley County Sheriff's internal control over financial reporting or on compliance. This report is an integral part of an audit performed in accordance with Government Auditing Standards in considering the entity's internal control over financial reporting and compliance.
Based on the results of our audit, we have presented the accompanying comment and recommendation, included herein, which discusses the following report comment:
2012-01 The Sheriff's Office Lacks Adequate Segregation Of Duties

Respectfully submitted,

Adam H. Edelen
Auditor of Public Accounts

Lady Owls vs Cordia

The Lady Owls hosted the Lady Lions of Cordia on Wednesday night. In the beginning of the game, the score was close, but the Lady Owls went on a scoring spurt and had a 22-point lead at half-time.

In the third quarter, the Lady Lions continued to score, but the Lady Owls continued to prove too much for them as they easily defeated Cordia by a final score of: Owsley 50 – Cordia 25. Individual Scoring for Owsley: Chelsi Handshoe – 17 points; Alyssa McIntosh – 16 points; Ronni Bennett – 6 points; Faith Duff – 5 points; Jamie Becknell – 2 points; Katelyn Marshall – 2 points and Emilee McQueen – 2 points.
